

¹Patil Sarika Jayant & ²Mr. Nirmale D.M

¹Lecturer YSPM, YTC, Satara, Maharashtra 415015

²Nootan College of Pharmacy, Kavathemahankal, Sangli - Kavathe Mahankal - Jath Rd, Kavathe Mahankal, Maharashtra 416405

Address for Correspondence: editorjohp@gmail.com

Abstract:

Communicating with variety of patients will primary concern in healthcare today. The way of communication in which the doctors, Patients, Physicians or therapist convey the message regarding the care, relation between patient and pharmacist affected by the different factor which include the patients healthcare literacy, the amount of information provided clear vision how much the individuals listen to each other, and tone of voice. In daily routine the contact and communication in between the different types of patients, in this basically the important way that is better communication is achieve better patients compliance, also they identify the problems related to the patient by reviewing prescription, case, notes, records and initial consultation with pharmacist for best effective communication there will various steps in that personal call to the patient, consultation to the pharmacist about the medication and therapy.

Keywords: Communication, Patients, Pharmacist, Doctor, Health care.

Access this Article Online

Website: <http://www.journalofhospitalpharmacy.in> Quick Response Code:

Received on 19/03/2020
Accepted on 14/05/2020 © HEB All rights reserved

